I respectfully adhere to the opinion recorded in my note dated 24-8-1910 in File No 29-10 of March 1911. In these days all medical men are expected to know of simple bacteriological work for purposes of diagnosis. For advanced work we have the special bacteriological ~~work~~ laboratory under an expert. A bacteriological adjunct to any hand attached to the Victoria Hospital is therefore financially unjustifiable. JM 21/6/11

[The so-called Bacteriological laboratory at the Victoria Hospital is after all a very small affair If it were not there would be the charge of expensive duplicate as we have a regular bac. lab. maintained by Govt at Bangalore JM 21/6]

Submitted to His Highness.

In July 1910 the Senior Surgeon forwarded to Government an application from Honorary Sub-Assistant Surgeon Mr. P.S. Ramachandra Iyer, praying that some allowance may be given to him for being in charge of the Clinical laboratory of the Victoria Hospital, as such allowances are given in British India. (This Laboratory is also called bacteriological laboratory of the Victoria Hospital, in the file). The Senior Surgeon recommended that Mr. Ramachandra Iyer might be given an allowance of Rs.50 per mensem.

2. The Financial Secretary noted on the 24th August 1910 that the allowance given in British India and referred to by Mr. Ramachandra Iyer was "not given to members of a hospital staff doing some bacteriological or chemical work but to members of large laboratories recognised as separate institutions by themselves".

3. The First Councillor was of opinion that the allowance of Rs.50 recommended by the Senior Surgeon might be sanctioned, but no orders were passed on the subject, and the papers were filed in March 1911 under the First Councillor's orders, as Mr. Ramachandra Iyer had been posted for inoculation duty and was no longer employed in the laboratory of the Victoria Hospital.

4. Mr. Ramachandra Iyer having been subsequently reposted to the Victoria Hospital and having resumed the charge of the laboratory, the Senior Surgeon has asked for early orders on his original recommendation.

5. The subject was considered in Council and the Council is of opinion that a local allowance of Rs.30 per mensem may be granted to Mr. Ramachandra Iyer for being in charge of the laboratory, and that the grant of such an allowance will be an incentive to other officers in the service to acquire special qualifications like Mr. Ramachandra Iyer.

6. The Financial Secretary, to whom the papers were again forwarded under para 8 of the Government Order of 6th May 1907, adheres to the opinion already recorded by him and adds that the Victoria Hospital laboratory is "a very small affair", and, "if it were not, there would be the charge of expensive duplication, as we have a regular bacteriological laboratory maintained by Government at Bangalore".

7. I submit the papers for orders.

My dear Sir,

I am directed to return File No.2116 dated 2-6-11 and to say that His Highness is unable to sanction an allowance for Mr.P.S.Ramachendra Iyer in view of the fact that he has already been given accelerated promotion and that the allowance is inadmissible on the grounds urged by the Comptroller.

Yours sincerely
